On motion, called to the following of the motion of the motion appointed secretary. On motion, called to the following which was unanimously adopted:—

The undersigned, citizens of the Twentieth ward, acting in accerdance with the suggestions of the City Reform Committee, have determined to organize, for the purpose of securing the election to office of men who are prepared to carry out such prinsiples of reform in our city government as, from the experience of the past, we feel to be imperatively demanded. We believe the time has come when to remain passive would be a great wrong, and when, by united efforts, our wrongs may be redressed, and just and righteous principles obtain the ascendancy over the corrupt party influences that have been so destructive to the reputation of our city, and so oppressive to our citizens. With this view, and for these and numerous other peasons, we call upon the voters in favor of reform to rally at Lamartins Hall, corner of Twenty-inith street and Eighth avenue, on Monday evening, 2th inat. at 75 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating candidates to be supported at the ensuing election.

A New Political Movement. POLITICAL MOVEMENT - A MAKED TICKET FOR STATE OFFICERS PROPOSED. ROCHESTER, Oct. 21, 1853.

A meeting was held here last evening, composed of prominent business men, without distinction of party. They adopted an address to the electors of the State, and proposed a State ticket, made up from the whig, hunkes, and barnburner tickets. The avowed objects are to elect good men, and to prevent any one party from controlling good men, and to prevent any one party from controlling the canal contracts, and thus plundering the treasury. The address is very able, and it is claimed that the movement is extensively and powerfully supported. Hon. Jonathan Childs presided at the meeting. The following is the ticket proposed:—
Clinton, for Secretary of State; Cook, for Comptroller; Segar, for Treasurer; Hoffm n, for Attorney General; Clark, for Surveyor; Yates, for Canal Commissioner; Benett, for State Prison Inspector; Wood and Duio, for Judges; Bowne, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Railroad Collision-Two Men Killed.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 21, 1853. A collision occurred on the railroad bridge, at Contsville, this morning, between a freight train going down, and a passenger train coming up. Both engines were dis-abled, and two men, named Williams and Davis, on the freight train, were killed, and another, name unknown severely injured.

Owing to a short curve rear the bridge where the collision occurred, the trains were nearly stopped—not going at more than four miles an hour; consequently, no one on the passenger train was injured, and in the last car the shock was scarcely felt. The two men who were killed resided at Pennington

HORSE AND CATILE SHOWS.

National Exhibition at Springfield. SECOND DAY AMONG THE HORSES AND HORSE MEN-GREAT CROWD—SCARCITY OF PROVISIONS, ETC. SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE NEW YORK HERALD.

The sun is going down upon the second day of the "Great Horse Exhibition" at Springfield. If it is not a great exhibition of horses, it has called together a great exhibition of men and women, though I cannot say much for the beauty of the latter, considering their number. The crowd has been very great to dry; the dust was very thisk; the horses were very fast; the drivers were highly excited: the consumption of gingerbread has been enormous; the hotels have been exhausted of provisions, and as the beepers of the Warriner House informed your correspondent to day that they could give him no dinner, it will be necessary for the HERAID office to send to me a basket of animal food at once. A Mr. Wright attempted to feed the crowd under a large tent, and for fifly cents you might get some tough beef, pleasantly varying between warm and cold, weak coffee, built potatoes, and pie with crust a la sale leather. A constant cloud of dust obscured crust a la sale leather. A constant cloud of dust abscured the view of the spectators upon the ground. When they wanted anything to clear away the alluvial deposit from their bronchial organs, they sould get turpentine giv and water, to be drank out of a greasy tumbler, and under the painful influence of balf a dozen clows in one's ribs, or half a dozen pairs of cowhide boots treading upon one's toes. I really can't see where the people who have come here to night will sleep.

There were saven men to every two beds in the city lass. There were seven men to every two beds in the city last aight, and that average must be increased now. The east and the west, have been doubled, and the very air-generally so pure and fresh-smells of the stable, and is redolent of "horse talk." But with all this, there was no disorder, and no fighting. I presume that the liquor was so excessively had that the people could not drink enough to get drunk without cauterising their throat-linings.

The attendance has been great, and $8,460 has been taken for tickets to-day.

Ex-Governor Floyd, of Virginia; Governor Seymour, of New York, and Governor Gifford, of Massachusetts, are here. Botts, of Virginia, is also here.

At hims o'clock this morning the matched-horses were exhibited, to the number of thirty-three pairs. They were generally very respectable, though none struck my attention as being particularly fine. The horses were good enough, but the matches were not.

Then the col's were exhibited. They were chiefly Black Hawks and Morgans—under sized and small-boned. The bload has not improved since Justin Morgan, of Springifield, took a three-year-old to Randolph, Vt., and commenced to breed these celebrated horses. We trust that something will be done to improve the blood, which is deteriorating rather than improving. This is mere important than the making out of stud books or turf registers. There were thirty-two colts exhibited.—fifteen pairs. Mr. Sanderson, of New Jersey, had a fine pair of blacks, which excited a good deal of attention. The fancy horses looked fine, and the vast crowd were highly delighted with them.

After dismer, the stallions from four to seven years old, to the number of thirty-three, were exhibited, and also one hundred and eight gelcings.

During the whole afternoon the enclosure was alive with excitement—the course was filled with fast troiters, the amphithestre-completely covered with four thousand spectators, including many women, and in the area were Cashing thoroughbreds, matched pairs, and saddle horses, mixed with groups of amateurs who gathered about their favorite horses, and descanted learnedly upon their points. There was no accident of any account. One horse ran away, but he was seized quickly and before he had done any harm.

away, but he was seized quickly and before he had done any harm.

This is a brief sketch of the day's proceedings; but it is impossible to describe the unique and interesting scene. I had never thought the "noble animal" had so many friends. Such an enthusiastic crowd, and so very dry, too, I never saw in all my life.

Among the breeding mares I admired Lady May Ely, an English thoroughbre I, owned by Lieut. P. M. Kibbe, of the Boston Light Dragoons, and ridden by him as a parade horse. She is eight years old, bright bay, and a very fine animal indeed. She kttracted a great deal of attention and admiration. Also, a Messengur mare, Julia, fifteen hands, weight 1,000 lbs., and owned by Mr. De Wolf, of Bristol. She is a Maise horse, and of fine stock. Mr. Perkins, of Becket, had a line Duroc and Messenger mare, and Mr. Sherman's Jenny Lind, (Black Hawk,) from Vermont, was also admired. William Beardsley of Albany, exhibits Lady Hunt, Tippoo stock, weight 1,000 lbs., 16% hands high, raised in Camdem. D. L. Hangorford, New York, exhibits Doll. Nearly all the rest are Vermont horses, and from Vermont stock, owned in Massachusetts.

Anong the stallions there are several like the virtuous above, weighs 1,500 lbs., he is 1734 hands high, and he trots now in less than three minutes. He is owned by Hiram Reed, of Augusta, Me., and is established for his procreative abilities. He has more Messenger blood in him than any other stallion that I know of. Joseph Mosher, of kne county, New York, has Genesce Gray, a well-known New York stock horse. O. G. Tinisham, of North Bridgewater, Mass., shows Elack Liot, a black stallion from French and Morgan stock. He is eight years old, and very spirited. Jackson Nichols shows a Messenger stallion. George Washington, three years old, seventeen hands high, and weighing 1,235 pounds. Mr. F. Twichell, of Petersham, has a black Morgan stallion, eight years old, a very fine, shewy ani mal. One of the prettiest horses on the ground is Lone Star, ewned by H. Ball, of New York. He is by the old Vermont Black Hawk, out of a Morgan mare, and can go in three minutes. Captain W. A. Newman has a year old Black Hawk stallion, also a Morgan mare and a pair of matched horses.

Black Hawk stallion, also a Morgan mare and a pair of matched horses.

The show pecuniarily promises to be eminently successful. Up to this time $6,750 have been received for entrance fees and admission tickets. The expenses, will not exceed $7,500, and the getters up of the affair will probably have a handsome surplus for the next exhibition. The exhibition is intended to bring together as many horses and horsemen as possible. They can come here, show their own horses, see those of other people, buy or sell if they desire, and at the same time spend their money at the Springfield hotels and in the Springfield shops. The thieves and pickpockets are here in great numbers, and that ubiquitous individual Mr. Smith has just been made a victim to the tune of $175. To-morrow the affair is to be wound up with a banquet and speeches, when all the great guns will be let off.

THIRD DAY-THE BANQUET-TOASTS AND SENTI-SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 21-P. M.

delicious Indian summer weather with which it had been favored during the previous days. The attendance was , it was covered with people-not less than four thousand persons being present. The amphitheatre seats were almost entirely filled, the sober dress of the men being re lieved by the gay dresses and many-colored parasols of the ladies. There was a procession of all the horses, number-ing about four hundred. Many favorites were received with applause, including Cassius M. Clay, whose splendid appearance and fine action made him the object of partiular attention.

said, that in view of the great success of this, "the only national horse exhibition ever held in the world," the audience were requested to "give three national cheers." Some of the audience did so, but the larger number began to think the cheering useless.

The reguler business of the day was then proceeded with—the show of ponts being first in order.

Poules were decidedly in the minority, though Barnum was chairman of the committee. This was the only failure that he was ever known to have anything to do with. Kitty and Fanny, by Black Hawk, stallion out of Morgan mare, from Verment. A pair of Indian ponies, Charley and Jack. A pair of Shellands, Venus and Jupiter, by imported sirs out of imported dam Zanzibar, an East Indian, weighing 400 lbs.; Tom and Jerry, French breed; Siren, Black Hawk sire and imported French dam; Charley, a Morgan; Black Hawk, sned by Vermont Black Hawk; Cock Robin, Morgan; Honest John, sired by St. Lawrence; Flying Indian, Iosian blood. There were several noticeable specimens of Indian ponies.

After the ponies came thoroughbreds. Not a very large number could be expected, as but few horses in America can show a pedigree clear to the Darley Arabian, or the Godolphin. But very few entries were made, only six—Topsey, sired by Wandierer; Utah, Pedigree not given; Bob Logic, whose pedigree we have before given; Lady Byby, sired oy imported Trustee; Jenny Lind, sire Bestrand, dam Floriselic; and Lady Sussex, sired by St. Lawrence. It is somewhat doubtful whether these houses are thoroughbreds according to strict rule.

Of stallions of seven years old and over, there was an exhibition at eleven o'clock; fifty-six appeared, nearly all Black Hawks and Morgans. There were a few western houses, and two from Canada, which I have already described. "Cassius M. Clay' offered to go around the track against the field, but the offer was not accepted. The snow of stallions was very good—the programme giving the highest premium—$200—for the best stallion. Thy closed the exhibition, and the judges ret blessing in a few brief and pertinent remarks. The dimner having been duly disposed of, and the luscious fruits on the table having been duly admired and devoured, the Hon. M. P. Wilder, President of the day, rose and opened the festivities with an appropriate speech.

After the banquet the following award of premiums was made:—

Governor Coliv then called for three cheers for the "American Olympiad," which, were given, and then (at half past five.) the company separated.

Thus ended the show, as far as the official part of 'A is concerned. The ground is to be opened on Saturday; but the horses and the visiters nearly all left on Friday evening. The receipts during Fridar amounted to over $3,000 and the osignators of the affally will make a hondsome thing of it. The ontire receipts will exceed $10,000, and the expenses will not reach $8.000. As I have before remarked, the display of wagons was not remarkable, though it was very fine—but the number of persons present—certainly not less than twelve thousand, and the incidental fun has made it a great time, altogether. The people of Springfield—Messrs. Bowles, Billss, and Thompson, especially—deserve great credit for the capital style in which everything has been arranged. Springfield is a great place, and her people have proved themselves equally great. It is probable that there will be another show here in 1854. "May we be there to see!"

English thoroughbre!, owned by Jacut. F. M. RIDDE, of the Boston Light Dragoons, and ridden by him as a parade horse. She is eight years old, bright bay, and a very fine animal indeed. She is thracted a great deal of attention and admiration. Also, a Messengar mare, Julia, lifteen hands, weight 1,000 lbs., and owned by Mr. De Wolf, of Bristol. She is a Maine horse, and offine stock. Mr. Perkins, of Becket, had a fine Duroc and Messenger mare, and Mr. Sherman's Jenny Lind, (Elack Hawk,) from Vermont, was also admired. William Beardsley of Albany, exhibits Lady Hunt, Tippoo stock, weight 1,000 lbs., 16% hands high, raised in Camden. D. k. Hangerford, New York, exhibits Doll. Nearly all the rest are Vermont horses, and from Vermont stock, owned in Massachusetts.

Among the stallions there are several like the virtuous Marcia, who "tower above their sex." There are two splendid fellows from Canada. One of them is Clyde Br.ton, and his sire is also about. The celebrated Bash Messenger is here, with one of his colts Mr. Hall, of Manchester, N. H., has a fine stallion of the Sherman Morgan stock. The Bush Messenger, menticaed above, weighs 1,500 lbs., he is 1734 hands high, and he trots now in less than three minutes. He is owned by Hiram Reed, of Augusta, Me., and is esignered for his of Troy; Edward Dickinson, of Amberst; Geo. T. Davis, of Greenield; Ex. Gov. Anthony, of Rhode Island; Geo. Wilkins Kendall, of the N. O. Picayme; Charles L. Fiint, Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture; Lt. Gov. Cushman, of Bernardston; Abbot Lawrence, of Boton; Samuel Lawrence, of Boston; Gov. Clifford and hisaids. Cols. Erra Lincoln and Wm. J. Rottsh; W. T. Pavis, of Greenfield; Homer Bartlett, of Lowell; Gen. Whitney, of Conway; George J. Pompelly, of Owego, N. Y., Vice President of the New York State Agricultural Society; Wm. Kelly, of Rhinebeck, N. Y., of the Executive Committee of that Society; John Jay, of New York; Col. Steptoe, United Statos army, and many others.

The sharpers were wide awake, and played a bold and atrocious game with Chester Osborn, of Springfield. He was on the grounds, when he found himself in the vicinity of two men who were apparently driving a horse trade. One insisted that his "old man" would be terribly oftended if he should sell his pair of borses to the other. Mr. Osborn became interested, and approached the pair, when the assumed horse owner said he would sell his horses to Mr. Osborn, and Mr. Osborn might sell them to the other, and then his conscience would be clear. Finally Mr Osborn made a trade for $455, and the buying man counted out the money, which the other would not take, all on account of the "old man." Mr. Osborn was then called upon to pay the money, and take in return the buyer's money, he being promised ten dollars for the job. But he had no money, and with the men came cwn street to borrow it. He succeeded in getting $300 of Smith & Catler, and this he paid over to his employer, who wanted he should go up street "to have the matter settled," the other scoundred remaining behind. After going as far as Rockwood's store, Er. Osborn was requested to go back and tell the other man to come along. He went back and found the man missing, of course, and when his carriage was struck by another horse and carriage, and Mr. Wilder was thrown out, and the h of the carriage fore the naments of his smoothing, by the appearance of a most eccentric looking house, led by a groom. It was after the thoroughbreds had been trotted out, and a card was affixed to its tail, stating that he was twenty hands high, and weighed three thousand pounds. His pedigree was read from the stand, as follows:—"Jehn Cricket," thoroughbred; weight, standard; age, unknown; height, Mount Washington; color, shady, imported from Barbary; had so sire, and dam is dead; owned by Amsteur Association, Springdeld.

Close of the Cattle Show. DISTRIBUTION OF PREMIUMS.

The Cattle Show of the American Institute closed yas erday, and the premiums were awarded for the best spo rimens of the different kinds of stock exhibited. The weather was rather unfavorable for a large attendance o visiters, but is cleared up sufficiently during the larger part of the day, and although it rained prefty heavy the were announced to the anxious exhibitors about two o'clock, by Mr. David Banks, who prefaced tham by a few remarks laudatory of the character of the show. He said that it had never been surpassed or even squalled in this country, either in the quality or quantity of the anumals exhibited. This was attributable to the enter prise and energy of the managers, who had done much to succurage a noble spirit of emulation in the breeding of cattle and other farm stock. Of castle alone, he said cattle and other farm stock. Of cable alone, he said, the whole number was over 230; of above, 115; of swins, 85; and a good display of poultsy. There were some exhibitors who brought forty-saven and others twenty head of cattle; but owing to the fair at Springfish the number of horses we necessarily smaller than usual.

When Mr. Banks concluded his remarks, he read off the following list of premiums.—

Much dissatisfaction was manifested by some of the exhibitors, and particularly by the owners of poultry, at the injudicious and indiscriminate manner in which the premiums were awarded. One coop of Shanghai fowls, raised on Blackwell's Island, and which were generally admired on account of their great size, were passed over without the slightest notice; and the judges in one or twe instances were, it is said, not aware of the particular breed of some of the fowls for which they awarded prizes. breed of some of the fowls for which they awarded prizes breed of some of the lowis for which they awarded prizes.

The premiums should consist of medals instead of money, for the very obvious reason that the exhibitors would, is that case, have a lasting proof of their success. We make this as a suggestion, in the hope that it will be well considered by the Institut obefore the cert summal charge.
